Student MAP Conference: Diversity in Urban Planning

Saturday, February 2, 2019
University of Michigan | Ann Arbor

The Student Michigan Association of Planning (SMAP) Conference provides an opportunity for planning students to learn about planning research, innovations, best practices and much more from academic peers and soon-to-be professional colleagues. This event also provides an opportunity to network with professional planners from the public, private and non-profit sectors.

Call for Session Proposals

The Student Michigan Association of Planning (SMAP) Conference Committee is currently seeking poster and presentation proposals from students and emerging professionals who are interested in presenting their work at the SMAP conference. Given that Urban Planning is multidisciplinary profession, we encourage creative flexibility with this year's theme of Diversity in Urban Planning.

Poster or presentation content should have a general focus on urban and regional planning. Topics that would be of interest include; emerging practices in the field, institutional innovations, urban development, transportation, GIS, community engagement or historical preservation. Presentations should be 10 minutes in length.

If you have recently studied abroad, completed a research project, had an interesting internship program, or are just beginning your professional career and would like to share your experiences, go to www.planningmi.org/student-conference to submit a proposal.

Deadline: Wednesday, January 2, 2019, noon.
